

CHILD OCTOBER 2005 ISSUE HIGHLIGHTS

-Child Editors Available For Interviews-

Spotlight on Halloween (And Other Seasonal Celebrations):

- Which Approach Would You Take?: When He Wants A She Costume -- Page 68
49% percent of respondents to a Child.com poll said they'd let their son dress as a girl because, as one respondent explains, "Four years old is prime imagination time." 43% of those polled felt differently. Experts say it's not a big deal - and perhaps more of a problem for parents than the child.
- Halloween Cupcakes from Top Pastry Chefs -- Page 162
Halloween treats. with a special flair. Five master bakers - including Colette Peters of Colette's Cakes (NYC), Sarah Farmer, co-owner of Sugar bakery (Santa Barbara, CA) and Vedika Webb, owner of Lotus Cake Studio (Philadelphia) -- create incredible confections for Child. Plus, for the home baker, recipes for basic, but undeniably scrumptious yellow and chocolate cupcakes.
- The Halloween Hit Parade! -- Page 155
Need costume inspiration? Child magazine's fanciful costume designs start with the basics - a leotard and tights for girls and a sweatsuit for boys. Included: Darling Dice (great for siblings); Firefighter (complete in his/her very own fire engine); Leaf Prince (or Princess); a Jockey; and a Hula Dancer.
- Five Things to Do In October -- Page 27
October's not just about hobgoblins and candy overload. Finding ways to encourage a love of language on Dictionary Day (10/16), rejecting wheels during International Walk to School Week (10/3 - 10/7) and creating a family tree with your child during Family History Month, are just a few other reasons to celebrate the season.

Features:

- Rethinking Co-Sleeping -- Page 106
Do the risks of bed-sharing outweigh the benefits? Experts reveal what's at stake in this controversial childrearing practice.
- What Makes a Great Pediatrician? -- Page 135
All moms and dads want the ideal doctor for their baby. In Child's exclusive survey, 1,200 parents told the magazine what they like most - and least - about theirs. Plus, what you should look for in your child's physician.
- The Ultimate Guide to Preparing for Your Second Child -- Page 131
Six steps to help your firstborn adjust to a new sibling.
- 10 Ways to Get a Better Night's Sleep -- Page 102
