-Traditional Home Editors Available For Interviews-

AT HOME WITH MEREDITH VIEIRA

THIS IS TODAY -- Page 156

For Meredith Vieira, living in the moment meant rebuilding her family's home from the ground up. What began for the new co-host of NBC's Today show as "toying with the idea" of a modest renovation for the home north of New York City immediately morphed into more.

Meredith's small idea turned into a full-blown, eco-friendly, reconstruction that would leave only one interior wall standing. Meredith called Traditional Home to help with the Tuscan villa-style design and shares the story and beautiful images of her new home in the September issue. Check is out to see where Meredith has been relaxing since leaving "The View" before she starts the "Today" show Wednesday, September 13.

THE BIG SLEEP -- Page 34

The days of buying matching bed linens designed to work in perfect pattern harmony are over. These days, be creative: mix stripes, solids and prints and make a statement. Traditional Home shows you the best way to coordinate your bedroom, no matter what your personal style is.

BREATHING ROOM -- Page 58

Everyone loves to be pampered, but for the busy American, scheduling down-time is a challenge. Follow Traditional Home's senior interior design editor Robert Young as he transforms a master suite into a luxurious at-home sanctuary for the 2006 Kitchen and Bath Industry Show and learn how you can create your own personal comfort zone.

SMALL WONDERS -- Page 121

Since his first purchase of a miniature book 57 years ago, David H. Wice has been collecting these tiny treasures. Learn more about this old, fascinating hobby where books are no bigger than 3x3 inches, how to start your own collection and find out where you can see some of the most impressive miniature book collections.

COOKING SCHOOL -- Page 136

Visit the In Good Taste Cooking School in Portland, Oregon to improve your cooking skills with small classes, visiting celebrity chefs and wine dinners. Can't make it to the West Coast? Try out chef and school manager Lucy Vaserifer's tips on holding a knife correctly or whip up her famous Penne with Butternut Squash and Italian Sausage recipe.
