Pumpkin Gallery—Page 22

Carved, painted, or adorned with embellishments, our parade of pumpkins will inspire you to create your own haunting Halloween display. In this article you will find instructions for pumpkin carving basics as well as stencils for a haunted mansion, a frightfully-fun feline, a spine-chilling spider, grinning ghouls, creepy crows and a variety of pumpkin face cut-outs.

Boost the fright factor with a scene that is utterly black and white. Use these bare-bones hues to create spectral scenes and stunningly stark silhouettes both indoors and out. Stop traffic with a witch silhouette on your front lawn. Fashion an eerie tabletop with handmade mummy heads over battery-operated votive candles. Create a nocturnal creatures centerpiece with white-painted pumpkins and black bats.

25 Ways to Spread the Spooky Spirit– Page 36

For anyone who dares to tread upon your front steps and cross your hexed threshold, fashion an eerie ambience with bewitching treats, trembling trays, mad science, whispering windows, mystery packages and sickly yuletide.

Eerie Edibles– Page 44

Imbue your Halloween party food with a playfully spooky attitude that is sure to please every little ghoul's palate. Delectable treats include Kooky Cauldron Sundaes, Boneyard Treats made out of graham crackers and peanut butter, Creepy Crawlers made out of cookies and candies, Scary Cerebrum made out of shrimp, Mad Scientist Wraps and Wicked Witch's Hat made out of popcorn and candies.
