

Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau to Address the FORTUNE Global Forum in Toronto, Canada, October 15-17, 2018

NEW YORK, Sept. 10, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Today, at a dinner hosted by FORTUNE in Toronto, the Right Honorable Justin Trudeau, Prime Minister of Canada, announced that he will participate in the 2018 FORTUNE Global Forum. The 2018 FORTUNE Global Forum will be held on October 15-17, 2018 in Toronto, at the invitation of Prime Minister Trudeau.

This major event will bring together CEOs from Global 500 companies and leaders from Canada and across the world in both business and government. The theme of the 2018 FORTUNE Global Forum is "The Economic Imperative: Creating Growth that Works for Everyone," and the program will focus on the key issues multinational companies are currently facing, including technology-driven industry disruption, resource scarcity, changing government policies, volatile markets, and new requirements for satisfying next generation employees and customers.

Prime Minister Trudeau will take part in a keynote conversation with FORTUNE President Alan Murray on Monday, Oct. 15 in the opening plenary session of the Forum.

"We are honored that Prime Minister Justin Trudeau will address this year's Forum in Toronto," said FORTUNE President Alan Murray. "The Forum is taking place at a critical moment for the global economy, as companies are navigating rapidly changing economic and political currents, and all will be eager to hear the Prime Minister's perspective."

Since 1995, the FORTUNE Global Forum has convened world leaders and the heads of global business—the chairmen, presidents and CEOs of many of the world's largest companies—on the dynamic frontiers of international commerce.
