Meredith Introduces a Slate of New Programming with Katie Couric and Brandon Maxwell in Support of the ANA's #SeeHer Movement To Eliminate Unconscious Bias, Increase Gender Equality in Media

New Slate Leans into Company's Entertainment Leadership By Tripling Red Carpet Coverage, Introducing New Reality & Royals Series and Leveraging Authority in Food and Multicultural

NEW YORK, May 2, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Meredith Corporation (NYSE: MDP; meredith.com), the nation's largest brand-powered food, lifestyle and entertainment media company, engaging more than 175 million unduplicated American consumers every month, will reveal at the IAB NewFronts today its new slate of programming, powered by its industry-leading data and predictive intelligence capabilities. The presentation, hosted at Meredith's downtown Manhattan office, highlights content from across Meredith's vast portfolio of more than 40 trusted and iconic brands, including PEOPLE, Better Homes & Gardens, InStyle, SHAPE, Parents, Martha Stewart Living, EatingWell and Food & Wine.

Fashion designer and TV personality Brandon Maxwell, culinary expert Gail Simmons, "PEOPLE Now" host Jeremy Parsons and "Couch Surfing" host Lola Ogunnaike will join Meredith executives on stage to showcase the new programming slate and new initiatives.

Jon Werther, President, Meredith National Media Group, said: "Since we introduced our new company a year ago at our inaugural NewFronts, we've had extraordinary momentum leveraging emerging technologies – from video and voice to AI and commerce – to create powerful connections with engaged audiences wherever they are and to help advertisers integrate authentically and seamlessly into those experiences. Our mission is to anticipate our consumers' needs – particularly those of the 110 million women we serve – to inspire and fuel their imagination and to empower them to achieve as they make their everyday decisions. With unparalleled first-party data, insights and editorial expertise, we can identify and predict consumer trends, informing our compelling new slate of programming."

Meredith will share new initiatives supporting its partnership with the Association of National Advertisers (ANA) and its #SeeHer movement to increase accurate representation of girls and women in media. Among its seven new shows is #SeeHer Story, a weekly digital series hosted by Katie Couric that spotlights often-overlooked women who have contributed so much to society.

"I'm excited to partner with Meredith and PEOPLE to inspire the next generation of young female leaders by telling the real and impactful stories of so many amazing women," said Couric. "You know what they say: If you can SEE HER, you can BE HER."

InStyle Editor-in-Chief Laura Brown and Brandon Maxwell are announcing another new program called #SeeHer Style. Leading up to NY Fashion Week, the two will inspire viewers with stories about notable women who are changing the world. Maxwell will also announce the establishment of a $30,000 scholarship program to help young women take the next step in making their own difference.

Meredith is leaning into its entertainment leadership with programming focused on the "Three R's of Celebrity": Red Carpet, Reality and Royals. The new shows will live across the company's owned-and-operated network, including its streaming ad-supported network PeopleTV, and social media platforms, such as a live show on Twitter.

The fully vertical, socially optimized original content IGTV series slate includes 20 shows. Fifteen series have already gone live, garnering more than 20 million views. Parents will be launching "How I Mom," starring actress Tiffani Thiessen, while Real Simple's "Beauty on the Move" and Martha Stewart Living's "Frosted" are already live on Instagram, enabling advertisers to seamlessly integrate or contextually align with premium editorial in mobile-first, highly engaging environments.

Catherine Levene, Meredith's Chief Digital Officer said, "Our award-winning producers, editors and talent are creating premium video content for an increasingly fragmented market. To help drive performance for our advertising partners, we're doubling down on creating highly useful short-form video on our owned-and-operated sites that can be consumed on any device; we're expanding our mid- and long-form video content and distributing it to our branded environments where consumers are spending more time watching, such as YouTube and OTT; and we're moving quickly to take advantage of the rapid acceleration of high-growth platforms like Instagram and IGTV."

Meredith's groundbreaking Sales Guarantee, which measures and guarantees sales lift for advertising partners across print and digital campaigns, was expanded to include video and mobile advertising at last year's NewFronts. A recent CPG campaign demonstrated a 3.3 percent sales lift, as well as an insight that 53 percent of sales originated from people who hadn't purchased the product in the past year.
